Office hours: Tuesdays and Thursdays 11-12:30, 2-5, and by appt.

In this class, you'll write seven or so papers and several responses and read them out loud to the group. Through this, you will polish your written skills, gain confidence in your ability to speak to groups of people, and learn effective ways to respond to the written work of other people.

Rules for the course are straightforward. Consistent attendance is critical, along with meeting deadlines and due dates. Evaluation will be done in two rounds of individual conferences, and your final grade will be based on your overall performance in the class—written work, improvement, participation and attendance will all be considered.

“You write the best you can, and you take your chances.” Raymond Carver
